

FRESH FOOD, FRESH IDEAS

Specialist event caterers with over 25 years of experience in our field.

Coronavirus has crippled the whole hospitality industry and we're still only just at the beginning of this crisis. With an uncertain future and unprecedented challenges facing us all we introspectively consider how we can now use our experience, products and services to support our local community and emergency services in the weeks and months ahead.

We now refocus our business strategy away from the commercial and set our goals towards the provision of catering support for those services that will need help in the near future.

With the upcoming pressure on hospitals, care homes, emergency services, even the military to feed the population we invite those bodies to contact us to see how we might be able to offer support to them during these troubling times.

What do we have to offer?

- Industrial production kitchen and refrigeration facilities in Cirencester.
- Teams of chefs and hospitality specialists.
- A fleet of refrigerated vehicles and connections in the supply chain to deliver regardless of any logistical challenges.
- Impeccable food safety records.
- Proven track record delivering thousands of meals at some of the countries largest cultural events.
